

3rd year Microbiology 2005 – Summary of student responses

MIC31AMM and MIC32EPM

Based on the student responses on the subject evaluation questionnaires it appears that, as in previous years, the students were again well satisfied with both units and therefore the 3rd year Microbiology course as a whole.

When invited to make specific comments on the individual topics in the appropriate section on the questionnaires, most students indicated that they have found them interesting. As usual with these topics, some students expressed greater interest in some areas relative to others. In response to student comments in previous surveys, more lecture notes have been made available on our website.

Many of the 3rd year students pointed out that the surveys are conducted too frequently for each unit, which probably explains why the total number of surveys returned for MIC32EPM was much lower compared to previous years.
