

POLICE CHECK PROCEDURE FOR PLACEMENTS IN THE HEALTH SECTOR

All students within the Office of the Provost attending a clinical (health) placement must obtain a National Police Check prior to commencement of placement. The Department of Health Standardised Induction Protocol stipulates that a Police Check is valid if 'issued within the past three years or not more than six months prior to commencement of the program of study, whichever is later'.

Note: Some placement providers may also require students to hold national police checks with an issue date no greater than 3 or 6 months. Consequently, you may be required to obtain more than one national police check in a given academic year. You will be informed by their discipline where this is the case. If your police check is returned with a 'disclosable outcome' you must present this to the Senior Manager, Placement Partnering & Operations in the Office of the Provost as soon as possible.

Students can apply for their police check either through fit2work or another Australian Criminal Intelligence Commission (ACIC) accredited police checking service, or through an Australian police agency for a national police check:

- Australian Federal Police - National Police Checks

We recommend that you use fit2work, due to the fast turnaround time and access to a discounted rate. However you are welcome to complete your check through another accredited service should you choose to do so.

Fit2Work

This application process is initiated by Placement Partnering & Operations in the Office of the Provost. You will receive an email from fit2work to invite you to commence the process. From November 2023 the fee for a fit2work check is $24.90 excluding GST (this rate only applies to applications initiated by La Trobe University). The turnaround time is usually 1-2 days. The cost indicated above includes the student discount and is payable by the student. The cost indicated is subject to review by fit2work on an annual basis.

Victoria Police

You can select to apply for a police check via Victoria Police. Payment is made directly to the organisation undertaking the police check as part of the application process. La Trobe University will not act on behalf of students or accept payments in relation to national police checks. Application fees for Victoria Police checks change on 1 July every year. Please check directly with Victoria Police for their current prices. The minimum turnaround time advertised for police checks is 10 working days, however in some instances applications can take up to 6 weeks. Students should submit the application for a police check at least 6 weeks before the deadline advertised for their discipline for sighting a valid Police Check. More complex checks can take longer to process.

You will need to navigate to the national police check portal – National Police Check and follow the prompts in the application process. The following information will be required. You will:

1. need to select 'National Name Check'
2. require at least 3 documents, including one with photo ID, to complete a 100 point identity check
3. need the third document to be either a current Australian Driver Licence or Medicare Card.
4. need a smartphone or borrow a smartphone.

If you do not have a Victorian residential address you can apply online via fit2work or through an organisation that is an accredited police checking service through the Australian Criminal Intelligence Commission, including the Australian Federal Police. <https://www.afp.gov.au>
