

TONY KIESSLER, MEMBER CHSS ADVISORY COMMITTEE

Tony Kiessler is a Central Arrernte man, social researcher and evaluation consultant with a focus on health, human services and social inclusion. He has worked extensively in Australia, Asia and the Pacific on program design, implementation and evaluation over the past 20 years.

Tony is a current Board Member of the Australian Evaluation Society (AES) and member of the AES First Nations Committee. Tony also holds a range of representative and advisory roles aimed at increasing Indigenous leadership, developing Indigenous professionals and supporting emerging talent, particularly in evaluation.

He is affiliated with the ANU School of Regulation and Global Governance (RegNet) and his social research focus is Indigenous participation, engagement and accountability. He is a passionate advocate for empowering Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Peoples to lead on Indigenous policy creation, implementation and evaluation.