La Trobe University’s Access and Achievement Research Unit (AARU) hosted the launch of a new book titled 'Student Equity in Australian Higher Education: Twenty-five years of A Fair Chance for All' on 3 May 2016 at the State Library of Victoria. The book was launched by the Vice-Chancellor, Professor John Dewar.

Published by Springer and edited by Andrew Harvey, Catherine Burnheim, and Matt Brett, the book reflects on the legacy of equity policy in Australian higher education, the effectiveness of current approaches, and the likely challenges facing future policymakers.

The launch was attended by over 50 senior representatives from higher education institutions, community service organisations, the Department of Education and Training, Tertiary Education Quality Standards Agency (TEQSA) and the media.

An article on the launch was published in The Australian, and the book is available in electronic format on the library website.
