

Health Science

Key transferable skills

Skills you will obtain in this degree that are transferable across many career options.

CRITICAL THINKING

PROBLEM SOLVING

COMMUNICATION

RESEARCH AND EVALUATION

TEAMWORK

CULTURAL AWARENESS

If you're interested in medical research, community health, rehabilitation counselling, athlete welfare, environmental health or health promotion – or are unsure which area of health science is for you – this degree can help you find your niche.

Career pathways

Graduates will be well placed to find employment in a range of roles directly or after further study. Common roles include:

- Health promotion coordinator
- Public health manager
- Rehabilitation counsellor
- Occupational health and safety officer
- Health educator
- Sport development officer
- Vocational rehabilitation consultant
- Community recreation coordinator
- Injury prevention and rehabilitation coach
- Environmental health officer
- Health policy advisor
- Communications coordinator

Discipline specific/technical skills

Technical skills that you will develop as part of your course.

- Investigate and evaluate issues in health
- Analyse and synthesise health science research
- Design and implement research investigations
- Apply research methods to assess data
- Work collaboratively in inter-professional teams
- Develop evidence based solutions to issues in health
- Apply knowledge of health care systems and policies

Major employers

Graduates have found jobs in a range of organisations including:

- Hospitals
- Universities
- Disability services
- State and federal government departments
- Department of Health and Human Services
- Murdoch Children's Research Institute
- WorkSafe Victoria
- Florey Institute of Neuroscience and Mental Health
- Nestle health Science
- Healthscope Limited
- Cancer Council of Victoria
- Transport Accident Commission

Source: LinkedIn Live Alumni, Burning Glass Technologies

Boost your employability

BROADEN YOUR SKILLS

CONNECT WITH INDUSTRY

MANAGE YOUR CAREER

GAIN EXPERIENCE