WHAT WILL YOU LEARN?

This training will enable you to:

- Create and sustain a supervisory relationship that enable psychological safety and provides developmentally appropriate challenges to support supervisees
- Describe a range of supervision modes, methods, and models, and identify or build on your own supervision practice model
- Identify the roles and tasks within supervision, and factors which enhance the supervision process and its professionalism
- Apply a range of techniques for giving and eliciting feedback in supervision
- Identify and respond with an intersectional frame, including areas such as culture, power, class, age, and gender in supervision

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

- Practitioners already providing clinical supervision
- Social workers, family therapists, lived and living experience supervisors, nurses, occupational therapists, counsellors, psychologists, and others in the allied health and helping professions who are currently or soon to be providing clinical supervision, with the capacity to provide supervision for the duration of the course.

WORKSHOP STYLE

There are two online self-paced modules and four training days.

- Each training day focuses on theory, reflective practice exercises, supervision practice, small and large group discussions, and pairs work
- Demonstrations and activities to keep training days interactive and engaging
- Participants are encouraged to integrate learnings into practice in between training days
- A collection of relevant materials, readings, and resources are provided for use on training days, with additional materials for self-directed use
