Message from our director

Dr Raul Sanchez-Urribarri

*Director of the Philippines-Australia
Forum (PAF) at La Trobe University*

This has been a fantastic inaugural year for the Philippines-Australia Forum (PAF) at La Trobe.

Building on the legacy of the Philippines Australian Studies Centre (PASC) and the ongoing work of La Trobe Asia, and thanks to a Deed of Gift signed with the Philippine Consulate General in Melbourne, we have embarked in a rewarding journey to help enhance and strengthen Philippine-Australian relations across different themes and areas.

To do so, we have capitalised on our existing networks and connections with the Filipino community in Victoria - and Australia more generally - to develop a strong and varied program, including a vibrant seminar series, a research funding scheme that sponsored six (6) different projects, a special initiative to highlight the Philippine Studies collection at La Trobe's Borchardt Library, and a very successful annual meeting with FASTCO, among other notable initiatives.

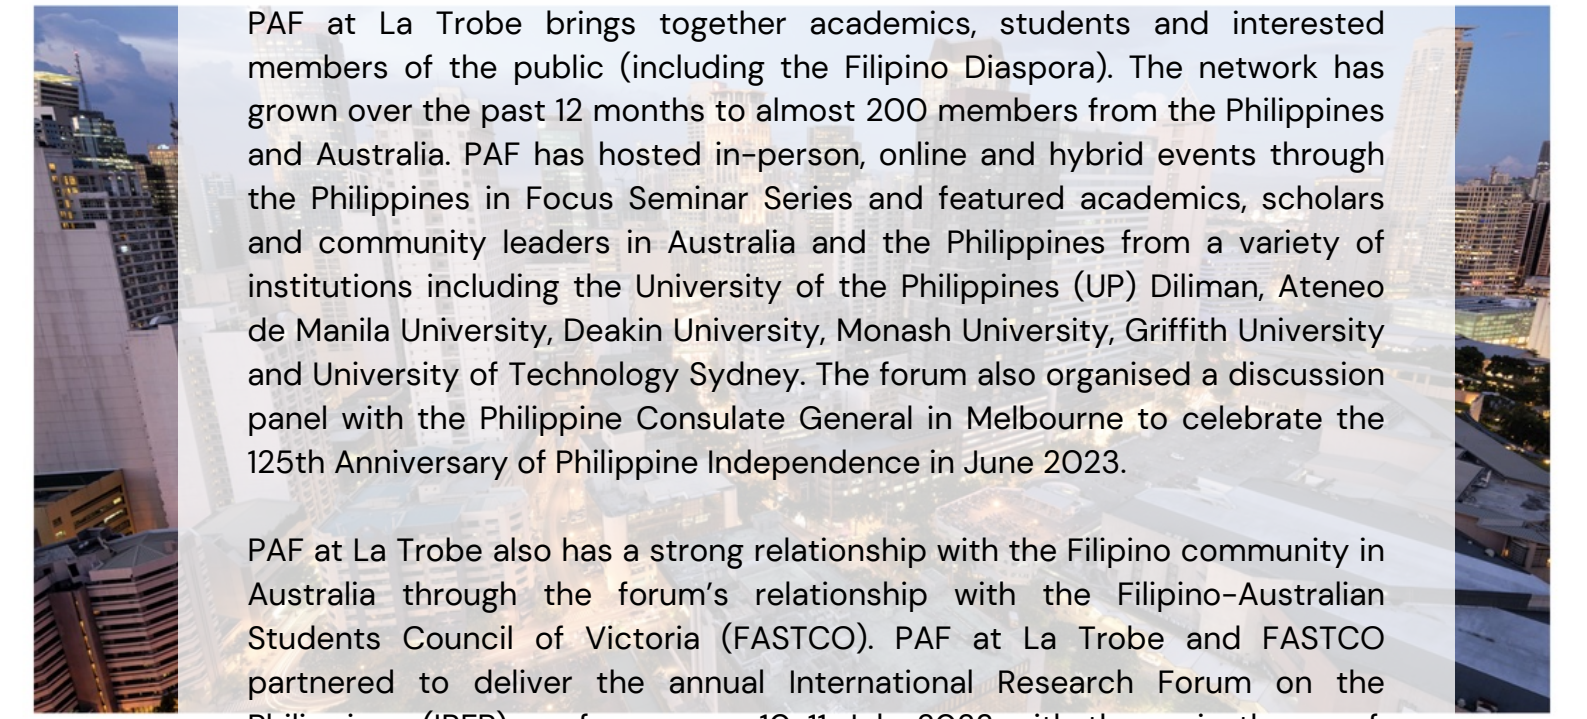

I am very pleased to share our first Annual Report and I hope you find its reading rewarding and encouraging. We are very excited about the opportunities lying ahead.

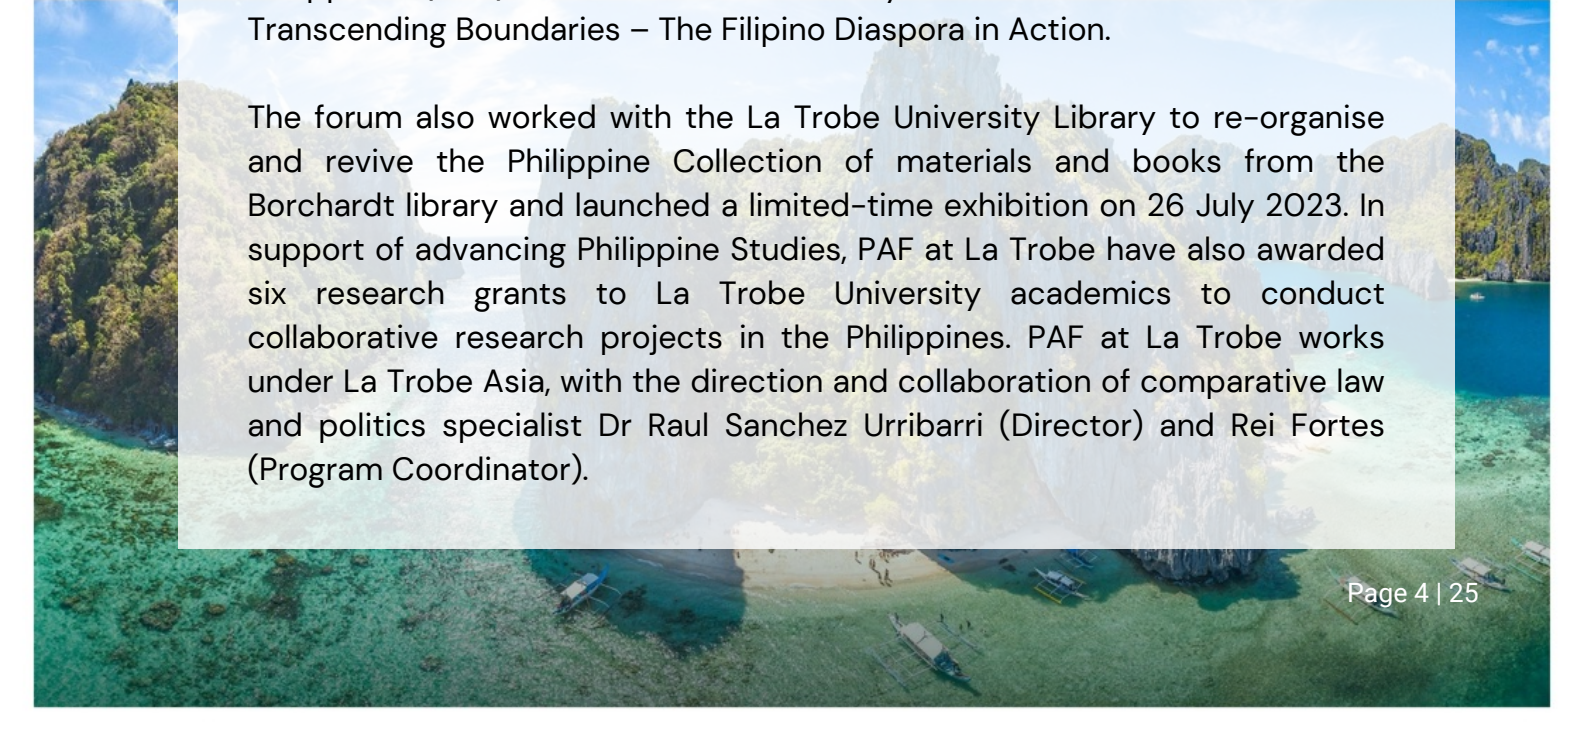

About us

The Philippines–Australia Forum (PAF) at La Trobe University is a forum under La Trobe Asia funded by the Philippine government and the Philippine Consulate General in Melbourne through a Deed of Gift signed on 31 July 2022 to advance Philippine Studies and engagement at La Trobe University and beyond. It builds on the work and legacy of the previous La Trobe's Philippines Australia Studies Centre (PASC), to continue furthering academic interests in Philippine Studies in Australia and internationally.

PAF at La Trobe brings together academics, students and interested members of the public (including the Filipino Diaspora). The network has grown over the past 12 months to almost 200 members from the Philippines and Australia. PAF has hosted in-person, online and hybrid events through the Philippines in Focus Seminar Series and featured academics, scholars and community leaders in Australia and the Philippines from a variety of institutions including the University of the Philippines (UP) Diliman, Ateneo de Manila University, Deakin University, Monash University, Griffith University and University of Technology Sydney. The forum also organised a discussion panel with the Philippine Consulate General in Melbourne to celebrate the 125th Anniversary of Philippine Independence in June 2023.

PAF at La Trobe also has a strong relationship with the Filipino community in Australia through the forum's relationship with the Filipino–Australian Students Council of Victoria (FASTCO). PAF at La Trobe and FASTCO partnered to deliver the annual International Research Forum on the Philippines (IRFP) conference on 10–11 July 2023 with the main theme of: Transcending Boundaries – The Filipino Diaspora in Action.

The forum also worked with the La Trobe University Library to re-organise and revive the Philippine Collection of materials and books from the Borchardt library and launched a limited-time exhibition on 26 July 2023. In support of advancing Philippine Studies, PAF at La Trobe have also awarded six research grants to La Trobe University academics to conduct collaborative research projects in the Philippines. PAF at La Trobe works under La Trobe Asia, with the direction and collaboration of comparative law and politics specialist Dr Raul Sanchez Urribarri (Director) and Rei Fortes (Program Coordinator).

Events - Academic and Community Engagement

PAF at La Trobe began its academic and community engagement by establishing an online audience with the creation of the @PAFLaTrobe Twitter account, PAF at La Trobe webpage, and reaching out to academics and members of the community to build the PAF network mailing list.

Our team also re-established contact with the Filipino-Australian Students Council of Victoria (FASTCO) to meet the members of the executive committee and begin planning for the International Research Forum on the Philippines (IRFP) 2023 conference.

Following this, the forum launched the Philippines in Focus Seminar Series in October 2022 which included key members of the Filipino-Australian community in Victoria, three of the six PhD candidates from Ateneo de Manila University, and a Tracey Banivanua Mar Fellow at La Trobe University.

Populism and medicine

- Health issues are highly amenable as populist tropes given that they are matters of life and death
- Health issues, moreover, demand emergency responses
- It can either be left-wing or right-wing, depending on the political context

After months of planning and communication, FASTCO and PAF at La Trobe held the return of the International Research Forum on the Philippines (IRFP) 2023 conference at La Trobe University's Bundoora campus.

The 2-day conference from 10-11 July, invited Filipino academics, students and community leaders from across Australia and the Philippines to share their work in various plenary and discussion sessions, participate in workshops and be involved in the sharing of knowledge about the Philippines to each other and the general public community.

Participants also had the opportunity to have a BBQ lunch at La Trobe University's wildlife sanctuary and be immersed in the natural habitat surrounding the La Trobe Bundoora campus.

PAF at La Trobe held its last event on the 26 July 2023 with the launch of the Philippine Collection Exhibition at La Trobe University's Borchardt library. The event is the culmination of a project initiated in February 2023 with the mission of revitalising over 600 books and materials about the Philippines acquired by Dietrich Borchardt, the founding librarian, at La Trobe University since the late-1960s.

Our team worked with Mr David Groenewegen the current Head Librarian at La Trobe University and Ms Adele Walsh Senior Coordinator of Library Community Programs and Engagement to help re-organise, increase the visibility and allow the Philippine Collection to be more accessible for the community.

Dr Robert Nery, an Honorary Associate in Sociology (recommended by Dr Trevor Hogan) was hired to go through the collection and organise the resources to have a clearer understanding of the size and range of the Philippine Collection.

Dr Nery also assisted in hand picking books from the Philippine Collection to display at the limited time exhibition and was involved in writing the didactics for the books on display. Finally, he also developed and created a bibliography of more than 600 materials and books found in the Philippine Collection today – a list that will be updated as more resources are discovered.

Currently, the collection is widely diverse and includes historical and scientific works about Philippine flora and fauna from the early 1800s to the 1940s and research in sociology, anthropology, and health and medicine. Several books in the collection also highlight indigenous groups in the Philippines such as the Ifugao and Abellen Aytas people groups.

Research and publications

Research

Over the past year, PAF at La Trobe also had the opportunity to award six research grants to La Trobe University and academics from Australian institutions conducting research with collaborations in the Philippines. One of the grant recipients includes a research project under the New Colombo Plan initiative.

Several of the research collaborators include: Ateneo de Manila University, Eastern Visayas State University, University of the Philippines, National Museum of the Philippines, Scalabrini Migration Centre in Quezon City and ASEAN-ACT.

Dr Brooke Wilmsen's research on Exploring the Impacts of Climate Gentrification in Coastal Cities in the Philippines has seen success. She presented a talk about her research at Eastern Visayas State University (ESVU) and garnered a lot of attention on how her findings can help improve the situations of climate relocation gentrification in cities such as Tacloban and Leyte.

Dr Wilmsen conducted field studies in the region with researchers from La Trobe University and ESVU and was featured in an article on ESVU's website.

Dr Wilmsen also received an extension of her partnership and further funding for her research with ESVU, Ateneo de Manila University (AdMU) and Visayas State University (VSU) through an ARC Discovery/Linkage project.

She has informed PAF at La Trobe that two students, one from ESVU and one from EVU will be applying to La Trobe University in 2024 as a result of this research project.

Publications

The growth and development of PAF at La Trobe's network to almost 200 members has allowed the forum to build new connections in both the academic and Filipino Diaspora community in Victoria and across Australia.

This has led to PAF at La Trobe becoming familiar with several Filipino owned restaurants and business in Melbourne such as CEREE and Tambayan Restaurant & Grill. More importantly, these new relationships have led our team to develop healthy relationships with media organisations that promote and share stories about the Filipino community such as The Philippine Times (Australia), SBS Filipino and Pinoy TV Australia.

Future plans

Community building: Continuation of PAF activities for 2024

The Philippines-Australia Forum (PAF) at La Trobe University aims to continue the activities and events we have hosted over the past year, such as the Philippines in Focus Seminar series, to continue providing a platform in academia to share knowledge about the Philippines and encourage new collaborations in academia.

PAF at La Trobe aims to continue being a platform in highlighting the excellent work accomplished by Filipinos in the world of academia to strengthen existing relationships and create new opportunities beyond academia and within the Filipino Diaspora in Australia.

Art & Culture: Supporting upcoming Australian and Filipino creative artists

The Philippines-Australia Forum (PAF) at La Trobe University aims to venture beyond the world of academia and as a forum plans to expand in creating a space for upcoming Filipino and Australian creative artists to showcase their work and engage in cultural exchange beyond national borders.

This goal builds upon the previous programs initiated by Dr Trevor Hogan at La Trobe University in bringing Filipino artists to Melbourne and flying Australian creatives to Manila.

PAF at La Trobe aims to re-ignite these initiative with the next generation of creative artists.

Impact statements

"The Philippines-Australia Forum at La Trobe University is a great initiative to advance Philippine studies in Australia. This is crucial not only for the growing Filipino communities in Australia but also for Australians who want to foster cultural understanding with the Philippines.

The seminar series, for example, showcased multidisciplinary topics that elicited public engagement and discussions. Moreover, PAF strengthens academic connections between Australian institutions (specifically La Trobe) and researchers and their Philippine counterparts.

It is actually surprising for me how Raul and Rei (and the rest of the PAF team) can do so much. I imagine the huge effort at planning, coordination, and logistics. that is involved in executing these projects. I appreciate both the professionalism that they have exhibited as well as the personal dedication and care they have for PAF's mission."

Mr Francis Sollano, Instructor at Ateneo de Manila University Loyola Heights campus and PhD graduate of La Trobe University

"PAF has done a great job in bringing together not only academics interested in Philippine Studies but also community leaders in Melbourne and in wider Victoria. PAF has opened an avenue to share more about the Philippines to the wider Australian community. It has also offered valuable discourse into different successful projects, challenges and future plans of the Filipino-Australian community.

I'm really glad to have worked with Raul one of the webinar. I appreciate that Rei is keeping me informed and updated with different activities in PAF. He also organised get together with Filo La Trobe University Alumni, that was great and a meaningful experience. I look forward to be see more PAF activities and I'm also happy to participate."

Ms May Red Zafra, ELTS/PTE/ General English Teacher at Turner English College and CEO &. Founder of Tagalog Learning Inc. Recipient of the 2022 Victorian Multicultural Honour Roll Awards

"PAF at La Trobe's devotion to bringing cross-cut theories into a practical way is really embedded with what PAF is currently doing right now. We are ecstatic about PAF's expansion and firmly believe all its endeavors.

"In order to link PAF programmes with diverse communities and organisations, Rei and Raul have been crucial. Their commitment to promoting PAF's are evident throughout their collocation to various organisations. Fortunately, we were able to work together on our IRFP programmes. Their theoretical and practical insights played a critical role in guaranteeing the conference's success. We sincerely appreciate all of their help and assistance."
